

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of driving and testing a semiconductor memory device. First, a plurality of word lines controlled by a driving line is selected by a testing unit, then, a control line coupled 5 to the word lines is enabled by a testing unit. Next, the driving line was enabled. Finally, the driving signal is transferred through the control lines to the word lines.